

LECTURER'S

BOOK OF FUN & GAMES

IMAGINE THE FUTURE

& HOLD ON TO THE POSSIBILITIES

OREGON STATE GRANGE

THE WORLD OF ## POSSIBILITIES

The Lecturer's department is truly a horse of many colors. Our role is constantly changing, if we are giving our position in the Grange justice. We carry a heavy and important role as Lecturer. With skilled leadership and imagination our duties can be filled with thought, warmth, fellowship and fun.

Never take lightly the role of Lecturer, we have big shoes to fill.

Should we look back at some of Oregon State Grange's successful Lecturer's we will bow in humility and strive to give the office our highest standard of achievement.

Remember, we cannot do it alone. We are a part of the team and we have the luxury of following in the footsteps of some very talented and thoughtful Lecturers.

Recipe For Family

Life

2 or more people
2 ½ Cups of Love
¼ Cup of Peace
9 Tablespoons of Faith
6 Tablespoons of Trust
1 ¼ Cups of Caring
7 Tablespoons of Forgiveness
5 Teaspoons of Sharing
Mix all ingredients together gently.
The result is a happy family full of Love, Peace, Faith, Trust, Caring, Forgiveness and Sharing.

Recipe from Linda Dorland, Master of Washington Grange #313

My Mentor & Friend

Agnes Hendren

We all have that special someone who we look up to. They possess qualities that we all wish we could carry on because deep down inside we know we lack those qualities and they are certainly worth carrying on. So we practice and mimic. We share what we have learned and pay tribute to our predecessors, our teachers and heroes of our past and future.

My family is first in line followed by very dear friends. My Uncle, Ronald McElroy was Master of Leedy Grange for several years, next to him is Agnes Hendren, Lecturer of Leedy Grange and her husband to the right, Floyd Hendren, Agricultural Chairman and tug boat captain.

My uncle liked windup toys and Floyd required hip waders when he spoke. Agnes was the rays of sunlight, full of warmth and joy. She could put a smile on even the stony harden faces of despair.

The combination gave me material for a lifetime of stories, entertainment and pieces of information to draw from and which I feel privileged to share with you.

A man brought a dead dog to the vet.

As he laid the dog on the examination table the vet pulled out his stethoscope, placed it on the dog's chest, shook his head and said, "I'm sorry but your dog is dead."

The dog owner not believing the veterinarian wanted a second opinion.

The Vet brought in a Labrador who went to work sniffing the corpse and after a few moments shook his head and said "Woof."

The Vet then brought in a cat, which walked around the poor dog several times and "meowed." The cat then left the room and the veterinarian handed the dog owner a bill for $600.00.

The dog owner in shock yelled at the doctor. "$600.00 just to tell me my dog is dead!?"

The veterinarian shook his head and explained, "If you had taken my word, it would have been $50.00. But with the Lab work and Cat scan, the bill just kept adding up."

SNOWBALL'S IN JULY

Make a row of folding chairs facing each other.

Give each individual a set of papers, like the Oregonian to remove each page and crumple up into a ball.

Once they have their stash of newspaper balls have them throw the newspapers balls at each other.

Paper Airplanes

You are never too old to play games - see who can throw the farthest

What do you get if you tie two bikes together?
Siamese Schwinn

What happened to the dog that swallowed a firefly?
It barked with de-light!

What do you call a dinosaur with a extensive vocabulary?
A thesaurus.

Why are frogs so happy?
They eat whatever bugs them

What do you call having your grandma on speed dial?
Instagram.

